Disabled and unpaid carer voters could have a huge impact on this election. Disabled people and unpaid carers are more likely to vote Labour because of the horrendous policies we've had foisted on us by the Tories. We encourage all these CLPs to contact their disabled and unpaid carer members. Mobilise them to update websites regularly, update and develop social media accounts, give interviews to local media, take part in campaigning on the phones and be front and centre in street activities. The Party has strong messages for disabled people and unpaid carers. These would be even stronger if shared by disabled people and unpaid carers.

Figures are from the Office for National Statistics and National Records Office Scotland (Census 2011), House of Commons constituency results and <http://www.electionpolling.co.uk/battleground/targets/labour>. They comprise the top 200 targets to win and the top 100 targets to defend. For more information about Disability Equality Act Labour, visit disabilityequalityactlabour.org.

Disabled and unpaid carer voters could have a huge impact on this election. Disabled people and unpaid carers are more likely to vote Labour because of the horrendous policies we've had foisted on us by the Tories. We encourage all these CLPs to contact their disabled and unpaid carer members. Mobilise them to update websites regularly, update and develop social media accounts, give interviews to local media, take part in campaigning on the phones and be front and centre in street activities. The Party has strong messages for disabled people and unpaid carers. These would be even stronger if shared by disabled people and unpaid carers.

Target constituencies for the Labour Party. By Disability Equality Act Labour November 2019.

Disabled and unpaid carer voters could have a huge impact on this election. Disabled people and unpaid carers are more likely to vote Labour because of the horrendous policies we've had foisted on us by the Tories. We encourage all these CLPs to contact their disabled and unpaid carer members. Mobilise them to update websites regularly, update and develop social media accounts, give interviews to local media, take part in campaigning on the phones and be front and centre in street activities. The Party has strong messages for disabled people and unpaid carers. These would be even stronger if shared by disabled people and unpaid carers.

Figures are from the Office for National Statistics and National Records Office Scotland (Census 2011), House of Commons constituency results and <http://www.electionpolling.co.uk/battleground/targets/labour>. They comprise the top 200 targets to win and the top 100 targets to defend. For more information about Disability Equality Act Labour, visit disabilityequalityactlabour.org.
